Colorado Springs Gazette

AND EL PASO COUNTY NEWS.

Vol. [illegible] COLORADO SPRINGS, SEPTEMBER 27, 1878. No. 39

THE COLORADO SPRINGS GAZETTE,
AND EL PASO COUNTY NEWS,
PUBLISHED EVERY SATURDAY MORNING,
AT COLORADO SPRINGS,
By the Out West Printing and Publishing Co.

SUBSCRIPTION
Two Dollars per Annum, Payable in Advance

TERMS FOR ADVERTISING.
One Dollar per inch for the first insertion, less than four, [illegible] Advertisement is charged proportionately.
ALL LOCAL NOTICES MUST BE ACCOMPANIED BY CASH WHEN SENT IN.
[illegible], Superintendent of Agents and Collectors.

OFFICIAL DIRECTORY.

STATE GOVERNMENT OF COLORADO.

[illegible]

EL PASO COUNTY.

[illegible]

TOWN OF COLORADO SPRINGS.

[illegible]

CHURCH DIRECTORY.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH, [illegible]

METHODIST CHURCH, [illegible]

EPISCOPAL CHURCH, [illegible]

PROFESSIONAL.

J. E. CLUTTER, M. D.
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
COLORADO SPRINGS,
OFFICE AT THE DRUG STORE.
Hours, [illegible]

[illegible], M. D.
Homœopathic Physician,
COLORADO SPRINGS,
Office [illegible] at all other times [illegible] visiting Patients, at house.
OFFICE IN WOOD'S BUILDING, Second Floor, P. O.
Residence at Office.

Z. C. KYNSALL,
Physician, Surgeon & Obstetrician
Office, over Post Office.
HOURS AT OFFICE.—From [illegible] to [illegible] o'clock.
Residence, Cor. Cache La Poudre St. and Nevada Ave.

Sutherland & Jackson,
DENTISTS,
OFFICE, ONE DOOR SOUTH OF P. O.

W. A. WILKES,
ATTORNEY AT LAW.
Office, Huerfano Street.
COLORADO SPRINGS, COLORADO.

T. M. DAVIDSON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
TEJON STREET,
Over Drug Store. COLORADO SPRINGS.

SNIDER & HOLMES,
WHOLESALE
Paper Dealers,
103, North Second Street,
SAINT LOUIS.
Manufacturers of the "Franklin" and "Fair Grove" Celebrated Book and News Papers.

HOTELS AND RESTAURANTS.

Colorado Springs Hotel.
This hotel is open for the reception of guests. Located near the railway, with fine
EVERY STAGE CLOSE AT HAND.
AND THE WELL KNOWN NATURAL ATTRACTIONS
in the neighborhood of Pike's Peak can be enjoyed without difficulty by the guests.
All the accessories of a FIRST CLASS HOTEL are to be found. The rooms are airy and well furnished, and
SPECIAL ATTENTION IS GIVEN TO INVALIDS AND TOURISTS.

EAGLE HOTEL,
AND
RESTAURANT,
P. A. SIMMONS, Manager,
TEJON STREET, COLORADO SPRINGS.
THIS HOTEL HAVING JUST BEEN COMPLETED and refurnished throughout, with new and elegant Furniture, is now open for reception of Guests.
The Proprietor will be happy to see his friend patrons at this new Hotel. Commodious Rooms and First-class Accommodation.

Board & Lodging.
HAVING TAKEN THE LARGE NEW HOUSE on Cascadas Street, fronting on the Public Park, [illegible] and adjoining the well established
FOUNTAIN RESTAURANT,
we are now prepared to accommodate with Board and Lodging, all who may favor us with their patronage, at reasonable rates. Large airy Rooms well ventilated. The tables will be supplied with the best the Markets afford.
D. SHIELDS, Proprietor.

[illegible] Hotel,
GEO. E. PRESSINGER, Prop.,
Late [illegible] Pike's Peak House, Colorado Springs.
Colorado Springs.
THIS WELL KNOWN HOUSE, TOGETHER ON [illegible] Avenue, has recently been enlarged and refurnished throughout, and is now ready for the accommodation of the travelling public. The rooms are comfortable and airy. Terms Reasonable.

AMERICAN HOUSE,
CORNER BLAKE AND [illegible] STS.
DENVER, COLORADO.
T. C. MARLOW, Proprietor.

People's Hotel,
COLORADO SPRINGS,
[illegible] McFARREN, President. [illegible] ERGUSON, Acting Cashier.
Buy Lands, Gold and Silver Claims, County and City Warrants, and Sell Exchange. Collections promptly remitted, and all business connected with a General Banking Business. The public patronage is solicited.

F. B. YOUNG & CO.,
BANKERS,
COLORADO SPRINGS, COLORADO.
Our business is conducted on the same as a National Bank.
Deposits received subject to check without notice.
Interest allowed on time deposits by agreement.
Commercial paper discounted.
Gold, Silver, and Exchange bought and sold.
Sight drafts drawn on the principal cities of the United States and Europe.
Money loaned for customers on Real Estate or other securities at favorable rates.
Collections made on all accessible points.
County warrants bought and sold.

THE CITY
National Bank
OF DENVER, COLORADO.
SUCCESSOR TO WARREN HUSSEY.
HENRY CROW, - - - President.
FRANK PALMER, - Vice President.
JNO. R. HANNA, - - - Cashier.

F. E. HUGGINS,
JEWELER,
Watches and Jewelry repaired with neatness and dispatch.
AT THE CITY DRUG STORE.

A. A. BARRETT. T. H. BURNHAM. E. CLUTTER, M. D.
City Drug Store,
Barrett, Burnham & Bancroft,
PROPRIETORS.
Cor. Huerfano and Tejon Sts.,
COLORADO SPRINGS.
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL
DEALERS IN PURE AND SELECTED DRUGS, Chemicals, Dye Stuffs, Toilet Articles, Perfumery, etc. Pure Liquors for Medical Use. A choice lot of Cigars. Cool Refreshing Soda Water always on draught.

L. H. STEWARD,
Manufacturer of Boots and Shoes,
TEJON STREET,
One door north of Fountain Restaurant. Colorado Springs.
REPAIRING NEATLY DONE.

HENRY PAYTON,
PLUMBER & TINNER,
COLORADO SPRINGS.
Contracts taken in either Brick or Stone. Will be found at New Stone Building, cor. Huerfano and Tejon streets.

W. E. PAGAND,
JEWELER & WATCH-MAKER,
One door east of City Drug Store,
Huerfano Street, COLORADO SPRINGS.

CHARLES WALKER,
Manufacturer of and Dealer in all kinds of
COLORADO
BUILDING LUMBER.
ORDERS LEFT WITH H. F. SICKLES,
Will Receive Prompt Attention.

Land Agency.
VALUABLE LANDS FOR SALE IN THE VICINITY OF
Fountain & Widefield Station,
ALSO
Milch Cows and Beef Steers.
R. STEWS, Widefield Station

FOUNTAIN
Billiard Parlor,
AND TEN-PIN BOWLING ALLEY.
Cor. Pike's Peak Avenue and Tejon Street,
COLORADO SPRINGS.

H. H. PLATT,
NOTARY PUBLIC,
Real Estate and Insurance Agent,
HUERFANO STREET,
Colorado Springs, Colorado.
Special attention given to buying and selling real estate.
Collections of all kinds promptly made.
Any business entrusted to my care will have careful attention.

SAINT GEORGE AND THE DRAGON.

An ancient myth modernized.

What, weeping, weeping my little son,
Angry tears like that great commander
Alexander;
Because of dragons is left not one
To be a new Cappadocia's scourge,
Everyone bold shall
Without delaying,
On Shetland pony
Sit bright and bonny,
A Knight all mounted, a young St. George?

Come, sit at my feet, my little son,
Sit at my feet and mend your wagon;
Full many a dragon
Will have to fight with, ere life be done;
Stay, and I'll tell you of three—four
Villainous castle
You'll have to battle,
When mother's sleeping,
Where all your weeping
Will not awaken her any more.

First comes a creature whose name is Sloth,
Looks like a bear creeping in sleekly,
Sample and meekly,
Who couldn't harm you however wroth;
But slay him, my lad, or he'll slay you,
Crawling and winding,
Twisting and binding,
Break from him, trample on him,
And, as you stamp on him,
You'll be St. George and the Dragon anew.

Then there's a monster most fair at first,
Called Ease or Comfort or harmless Pleasure,
Born of smooth Leisure.
On scented cushions luxurious nursed;
Who'll buy your soul if you'll sell it, just
To catch one minute,
With joyance in it,
Or ward off sorrow
Until to-morrow,
Trample him, trample him into the dust.

And one, a reptile, yclept False Shame,
Who silently drags its fettered length on,
Arresting its strength on
Many a spirit else pure from blame;
But up, and at it your courser urge,
Smite, smite, I trow hard
The moral coward,
By throne or altar,
And never falter,
And be my own son—my brave St. George.

St. George and the Dragon! ah, my boy,
There are many old dragons left—world scourges,
And few St. Georges!
There's mickle labor and little joy,
But on with you—on to the endless fight,
Your sword right back ing,
No man trudging;
Bear your bright flag on
And slay your dragon,
St. George forever! God shield the right.

—Mrs. Craig.

NOVELTY IN DUCK-HUNTING.

An ingenious Minnesota youth is to be credited with a novelty in the way of duck-hunting. He lives at a beautiful spot known as Rice Lake, from the wild rice growing on its margin as thick as wheat in a field. Ducks love this rice, and when they have partaken of a sufficient quantity their flesh becomes of a nature to tempt the palate of an anchorite. But the Rice Lake ducks, either from experience or an instinct which may be said to be wisdom intensified, do not like human company, and when they see a hunter approaching, generally hasten out of gun-shot range. Dick, the youth before alluded to, was particularly fond of ducks, and doted with contempt upon the futile efforts of his sire to provide the table with that delicacy. He determined to have some ducks for dinner, hence took a walk the morning to accomplish the task. Proceeding to the corn field he selected a large pumpkin, cut a hole in one end, removed its internal arrangements, carried it down to the shore, divested himself of his clothes, placed the pumpkin over his head, and waded in among the rice. In a short time he had under cover pioneer of a flock of ducks approached, and, imagining the vegetable to be free from guile, encouraged the others to follow. They were parading of their matutinal orgies, when astonishment struck them at the sight of the pioneer suddenly diving—not that there is anything astonishing in a duck diving—but this one dived like a porpoise, and neglected to come up. A committee of one was appointed to investigate, and approaching the pumpkin, suddenly made a backward dive, and was gone. This was enough for the others. They fled in dismay, and henceforth remembered as among the dearest errors the proceedings of New Salem [illegible].

TWO SIDES TO A QUESTION.

We our readers peruse the following contrast between the practices of Savage and Civilized Nations, in respect to dress and physical training, and render a verdict according to the facts?

SAVAGE.

"In the Valley of the Nile, the idea of beauty is immoderate fatness; and the common practice of fattening princesses, is working them into grinding great quantities of meal.—Captain Grant.

"I saw a daughter of the king sucking at a mid-pot, while her father kept her at work by holding a rod in his hand.—Speke.

"Throughout the interior of Africa, and, indeed in some parts of Asia, a woman is prized for fatness. When a young woman is betrothed, she is cooped up in a small room, with go characters on her ankles. Her proprietor has lost a wife by death, or divorced one, then ankels are sent forward for the new matrimonial candidate. When she has attained a desired size, indicated by filling the pattern rings, she is carried in triumph to her home. The preparation of food that actually produces that coveted dimension—mountain of fatness—is called drough, made of a vegetable peculiar to the country. Some positively die from excessive fatness, in an effort to surpass, in that bewitching accomplishment, rival candidates for matrimonial positions. These famous mortals are poor girls; they are the higher officers in society, and, therefore, are ambitious of securing an elevated position, with a rich husband.—Colonel Keating's Travels.

CIVILIZED.

"In civilized nations, a slimness of figure is considered desirable, and, accordingly, we find that the aims of the young women are directed in that direction. A very sparing diet has always been one great aid to the operations of the corset.—The Corset and the Crinoline.

"In my case, I can only say, I suffered perfect tortures from my stays, especially after dinner; not that I ate heartily, for that I found impossible, even if we had been allowed to do so by our school-mistress.—"Young Lady," in Englishwoman's Magazine, for March, 1867.

Several instances of growing girls being made to wear their corsets, by night, as well as day, have lately come to my knowledge, and I am accustomed with more than one fashionable school in London, where the practice is made a rule of the establishment.—Madame La Sante.

"I was placed, at the age of fifteen, at a fashionable school in London; and there it was the custom for the waists of the pupils to be reduced one inch per month, until they were what the lady principal considered small enough. When I left school at seventeen, my waist measured only thirteen inches, it having been formerly twenty-three inches in circumference. Every morning one of the maids used to come to assist us to dress, and a governess superintended to see that our corsets were drawn as tight as possible. One girl in the school was stout and large built, and two strong maids were obliged to use their utmost force to make her waist the size ordered by the principal—viz., seventeen inches—and she fainted twice while the stays were being made to meet.—Nora," in the Englishwoman's Magazine, for May, 1867.

SAVAGE.

"The red clay, called ampo, is eaten by the women of Java, in order that they may become stout; want of plumpness being considered a defect of beauty in that country.—Humboldt.

CIVILIZED.

"Vinegar is consumed in large quantities by many of our young ladies, to reduce their flesh and produce a fashionable paleness, and this practice is attended with the worst results to the health, the liver being the organ that suffers most.

SAVAGE.

"The shoe of a Chinese lady measures about three and a half inches in length, from the heel to the toe. Among the Chinese, all young girls of the better classes are crippled by a tyrant custom. In early infancy their feet are tightly bound, the four small toes being tucked under the sole, which, after a time, they become a part, and the heel is brought forward. The process is at length complete; a stump have been substituted for the ordinary pedal extremities, and the Chinese lady totters on her goat's feet.—"China," in the Encyclopædia Britannica.

CIVILIZED.

"The fashionable young lady appears to have taken the hoof of an ass, as a pattern to which her feet are to be made to conform.—Saturday Review.

"The high-heeled boots, of the modern fashionable dame, brings its own punishment with it. The weight of the body is thrown upon the toes, which are forced together in spite of the boot, together too small for their accommodation, and the chiropodist reaps a fortune in ministering to the corn-covered, distorted feet of the lady of fashion.—Diseases of the Feet.

SAVAGE.

"The Peruvians bore the lobe of the ear, and distend the hole.—American Cyclopædia.

CIVILIZED.

"Ear-rings are at present worn very long, yet being very fashionable.—Le Follet.

Note by the Compiler.—"In the words of Bret Harte, Is "civilization played out?" Or, has the Caucasian any right to brag about his and her customs being superior to those of savage nations?—The Science of Health.

A LESSON OF GRATITUDE.

A gentleman was once making inquiries in Russia about catching bears in that country. He was told that to entrap them, a pit was dug several feet deep, and later covering it over with turf, leaves, etc., some food was placed on the top. The bear, tempted by the bait, easily fell into the snare.

"But," it was added, "if four or five happen to get in together, they are gone again."

"How is that?" asked the gentleman.

"They form a sort of ladder by stepping on each other's shoulders, and thus make their escape."

"But how does the bottom one get out?"

"Ah! these bears, though not possessing a mind and soul such as God has given us, yet can feel gratitude; and they won't forget the one who has been the chief means of procuring their liberty. Scampering off, they fetch the branch of a tree, which they fling down to their poor brother, enabling him speedily to join them in the freedom in which they rejoice."

Sensible bears, we should say, are a great deal better than some people that we hear about, who never help anybody but themselves.—The Carrier Dove.

A boy not yet three years old in Salem, Ind., has a musical and nice whistler. The mother thinks that is the effect of his eating an Indian turnip before he was a year old. Yes—or his mother's nice, [illegible].

HOMEKEEPING VS. HOUSE-KEEPING.

The truest homes are often in houses not especially well kept, where the comfort and happiness of the inmates, rather than the preservation of the furniture, is first consulted. The object of home is to be the centre, the point of tender interest, the pivot on which many life turns. The first requisite is to make it attractive, so attractive that none of its inmates shall care to linger long outside its limits. A legitimate means should be employed to this end, and no effort spared that can contribute to the purpose. Many houses called homes, kept with waxy neatness by painstaking, anxious women, are so oppressive in their nicety as to exclude a home-feeling from their spotless precincts. The very name of home is synonymous with personal freedom and relaxation from care. But neither of these can be felt where such a mania for external cleanliness pervades the household as to render everything else subservient thereto. Many housewives, if they see a speck on floor or wall, or even a scrap of thread or bit of paper on the floor, rush at it, as if it were the seed of pestilence which must be removed on the instant. Their temper depends upon their maintenance of perfect purity and order. If there be any failure in their parlor, by any combination of circumstances against them, they fall into a pathetic despair, and can barely be induced out. They do not see that a cheerfulness is more needful to home than a fine spotlessness that never shows. Their disposition to wage war upon maculateness of any sort increases until they become slaves to the broom and dust pan. Neatness is one thing, and a state of perpetual house-cleaning quite another.

Out of this grows by degrees the feeling that certain things and apartments are too good for daily use. Hence, chairs and sofas are covered, and rooms shut up save for special occasions, when they are permitted to reveal their violated sacredness in a manner that mars every pretense of hospitality. Nothing should be bought which is considered too fine for the best comes—a preparation. Furniture is the finest furniture, on which the children can climb than satin and damask which must be viewed with reverence. Where anything is reserved or secluded, to disguise the fact is extreme folly. A chilly air wraps it round, and the reputation of strangeness is experienced by the most insensible.

There are few persons who have not visited houses where they have been introduced to what is known as the company parlor. They must remember how uncomfortable they were while sitting in it; how they found it almost impossible to be at ease, and finally for the reason that their poor hostess were not themselves at ease. The children were watched with eagle eyes, lest they should disarrange or soil something; so that the entertainment of friends became very much like a social execution. They must recall, too, how sweet the fresh air seemed out of doors, and how they inwardly vowed, in leaving that temple of form and stiffness, that something more than holiness would be required to incite them to return.

Home is not a name, nor a form, nor a routine. It is a spirit, a presence, a principle. Material and method will not, and cannot make it. It must get its light and sweetness from those who inhabit it, from flowers and sunshine, from the sympathetic natures which, in their exercise of sympathy, want of plumpness being considered a defect of beauty in that country.—Humboldt.

CIVILIZED.

"Vinegar is consumed in large quantities by many of our young ladies, to reduce their flesh and produce a fashionable paleness, and this practice is attended with the worst results to the health, the liver being the organ that suffers most.

SAVAGE.

"The shoe of a Chinese lady measures about three and a half inches in length, from the heel to the toe. Among the Chinese, all young girls of the better classes are crippled by a tyrant custom. In early infancy their feet are tightly bound, the four small toes being tucked under the sole, which, after a time, they become a part, and the heel is brought forward. The process is at length complete; a stump have been substituted for the ordinary pedal extremities, and the Chinese lady totters on her goat's feet.—"China," in the Encyclopædia Britannica.

CIVILIZED.

"The fashionable young lady appears to have taken the hoof of an ass, as a pattern to which her feet are to be made to conform.—Saturday Review.

"The high-heeled boots, of the modern fashionable dame, brings its own punishment with it. The weight of the body is thrown upon the toes, which are forced together in spite of the boot, together too small for their accommodation, and the chiropodist reaps a fortune in ministering to the corn-covered, distorted feet of the lady of fashion.—Diseases of the Feet.

SAVAGE.

"The Peruvians bore the lobe of the ear, and distend the hole.—American Cyclopædia.

CIVILIZED.

"Ear-rings are at present worn very long, yet being very fashionable.—Le Follet.

Note by the Compiler.—"In the words of Bret Harte, Is "civilization played out?" Or, has the Caucasian any right to brag about his and her customs being superior to those of savage nations?—The Science of Health.

A LESSON OF GRATITUDE.

A gentleman was once making inquiries in Russia about catching bears in that country. He was told that to entrap them, a pit was dug several feet deep, and later covering it over with turf, leaves, etc., some food was placed on the top. The bear, tempted by the bait, easily fell into the snare.

"But," it was added, "if four or five happen to get in together, they are gone again."

"How is that?" asked the gentleman.

"They form a sort of ladder by stepping on each other's shoulders, and thus make their escape."

"But how does the bottom one get out?"

"Ah! these bears, though not possessing a mind and soul such as God has given us, yet can feel gratitude; and they won't forget the one who has been the chief means of procuring their liberty. Scampering off, they fetch the branch of a tree, which they fling down to their poor brother, enabling him speedily to join them in the freedom in which they rejoice."

Sensible bears, we should say, are a great deal better than some people that we hear about, who never help anybody but themselves.—The Carrier Dove.

A boy not yet three years old in Salem, Ind., has a musical and nice whistler. The mother thinks that is the effect of his eating an Indian turnip before he was a year old. Yes—or his mother's nice, [illegible].

THE EX-EMPRESS EUGENIE.

An American has recently been interviewing the ex-Empress of the French at Madrid. He describes her as still the same fascinating, beautiful woman who, in the heyday of her prime, brought the homage of Europe to her feet. Her face shows traces of care, and yet lines of hope, and she walks with the assistance of a cane. She believes in the French people, in the magic name of Bonaparte, and in her son, to whose education she gives her tenderest care and solicitude. She does not quite understand the institutions of America, nor can she comprehend the prejudice existing against color. Turning to a Southern young lady present, she said, with the utmost naivete, "Would you marry a negro?" "Of course not," was the reply. She said the Emperor understood these things better, that he liked the colored people, and had a colored colonel in the household whom he liked very much. She explained, as the reason why so few French people emigrate, that they do not comprehend the language, and said, "Why, if I were to land in a country where people couldn't answer me when I spoke to them, I should go mad."

FASHIONS FOR OCTOBER.

Again has the Autumn rolled around, with its refreshing breeze, its brilliant foliage, and last, in the work of fashion, what is considered of the most importance, its new and varied fashions. The dark, rich, quiet shades of last season are reproduced in goods of all kinds, from the costly silk to the simple delaine and alpaca. The fabrics are very similar to those of last season. Heavy silks, silk poplins, silks and wool serge, Cashmere, which, instead of losing, has gained in popularity, and wool goods, of styles too numerous to mention, many being the same goods, but called by different names by different manufacturers, are some of the goods seen. Alpacas, which have been confined in colors to black for some time, are now seen in colors; clear gray shades are most used, and are trimmed with black velvet or a gros grain of the shade of the material. Sleeveless basques of silk or velvet are worn with alpaca suits. These suits will only be suitable for early fall wear, and are particularly well adapted for traveling suits. Velvet is very much used in combination with other goods for fall wear, either as an underskirt, or else for trimming the polonaise or dress. The dark plum colors, leaf brown, elephant, navarda, and blue black, have entirely superseded the lighter shades which were allowable for this season; and, where black is not worn, are preferred as it is by many before any other dress, these dark shades are universally worn.

In regard to styles, double-breasted garments have by no means seen the height of their popularity, but will continue in favor for the fall and winter. The English walking-jacket, similar to the garment called by that name last fall, but tighter fitting, will dispute favor with mantles as fall wraps. The double-breasted front will also be retained in polonaise and redingotes. The sleeveless basque, and the jockey basque, also promise to be popular.

Overskirts on many imported dresses are open in front and draped from side to side, just below the belt. There is a deep point on each side, and the back is draped up by a sash, almost to the belt.

Many of the new Autumn dresses are made with long waistcoats, having the effect of tunics in front. They are extremely novel in style, and are more becoming than the shorter ones.

India embroidery in long loose stitches, such as is seen on the borders of camel's hair shawls, is used at the fashionable French houses for trimming the redingotes, polonaises, mantles, and jackets for fall wear. These slender, feathery stitches describe the outline of palm leaves, arabesques, and other oriental figures, which are then filled in with a firmer seed stitch. The India stitches are particularly effective in leaves and vines. Guipure or yak lace, used to complete the garment.

For protecting the facings of skirts that drag on the ground, an inner facing is now used of cars of color of morocco, bound with braid. It is more substantial than the plaited wigging, which is soon discovered and worn out. Two yards are sufficient for a skirt, as it is only placed on the back breadtas.

A mixture of oxidized silver with gold is the latest novelty in jewelry. Necklaces, corsets, crosses, chatelaines, and coral ear-rings, are shown in this new combination. The neck laces have long bars, joined by links and prettily engraved. There is a fancy for antique looking chasing on gold and silver jewelry. Slight vines and delicate flowers, of which the merest outlines are traced, are the favorites for ornamentation. Oxidized silver coral ear-rings and silvered chatelaines are much worn with black dresses, both in and out of mourning. The oxidized silver most in vogue, is almost as dark as iron. A highly polished platinum, it is said, will take the place of the dark silver, and will be fashionable combined with gold. This will, we think, be but a fleeting fashion, for already there are so many imitations as to make persons care but little for the real, which is quite expensive. The fashionable gold ear-ring is bullet-size and quaint chased, fastened by a screw in the ear, so that only the ball is seen. Among the latest styles in stone sets, are those of fine cut jet associated with garnets or other bright red stones; these are thought to be very effective. The Persian jewelry is also much admired. This is a combination of brilliant stones of various colors set in one brooch. The designs are miniature copies of the intricate figures represented in Persian scarfs, shawls, carpets, etc.

New ruffs or collarettes are very high behind, coming low at the throat, and covering so much of the corsage front that any trimming to the waist is superfluous. They are made of silk fabrics of two shades, the darkest and paleest of any color, and a ruff plaiting of muslin or net.

Another novelty is linen and lawn handkerchief, with colored hems, made of the India silks that was like linen. They are chosen with reference to the dress worn. Some have plain hems, others have border, alternating on the hem; others have striped hems of contrasting colors. There are also hems of fine batiste coupled, to accompany collars of batiste to wear with black silks. A variety of these have rows of narrow Valenciennes lace on the hem, and wider lace on the edge. Another fancy is a fluted ruffle of spotted linen, like that of chemisettes, put around white handkerchiefs.

A loosely waved tress of false hair is now worn across the head, just above the forehead. This pretty fashion is welcomed by ladies who have thinned or worn off their front hair in frizzing it, as this enables them to smooth away their own front hair out of sight, and let it grow long enough to be parted in the middle and drawn back in classic style.—Godey's Lady's Book.

A Douglas county price is described in some of the local papers as "looking a very lady, cracked in the golden glimmer of some dreaming lake—a lone, fleecy, snowy, yet substantial, crowning the peaks of some sea. Soft, [illegible]."

MARIE ANTOINETTE'S CROW.

A correspondent of the Boston Globe says: Among the noteworthy things of the woods and parks of Versailles which are remarkable by visitors is a fine old crow, which is more than ordinary interesting from the fact that he was brought in-ordinary to Queen Marie Antoinette, that is to say, he was one of her great favorites, and followed her about like a dog. This worthy old relic of the old regime frequents the trees and lawns of the Petit Trianon, and can be easily observed, as he allows himself to be approached, and does so with a measure the crumbs that are thrown him. His story is curious, and is told as follows:

One fine morning in the month of October, 1785, Marie Antoinette was at the window of her boudoir, opening on the fine lawn that stretches on the east of Petit Trianon. The Queen had a biscuit, which she steeped in a cup of milk, when a crow came, and perched upon the window ledge, beating its wings as if asking for food.

The Queen, though rather alarmed by the visit of this bird of sinister omen, willingly gave him the remainder of her biscuit, and then, pensive, shut the window of her boudoir. At breakfast Marie Antoinette related to the King the incident of the morning, and made her royal husband share the painful impression which the visit of the crow had produced upon her.

The following morning the same scene between the Queen and the crow took place. The bird became so attached to Her Majesty that when in her white morning dress, with a simple straw hat on her head, she went to the Hameau to visit her sheep or to fish in the lake, she was followed by the faithful bird, who flew from tree to tree, and only left her when she reentered the palace.

From 1789 the bird was seen no more; but when, in 1810, the Empress Maria Louise came to occupy the pavilion, she was one of breakfasting on the island, under the shelter of the little temple; and she one day remarked a crow that kept constantly hovering over the little building, and cawed loudly as if wishing for a share of the repast; it was the crow of Marie Antoinette.

The incident was told to Napoleon, who, being rather superstitious, expressed the wish that Marie Louise should leave Trianon, which she hastened to do; but, in 1814, the same princess returned to Trianon, after the dethronement of Napoleon, and, on the 10th of April, had an interview with the Emperor of Austria, in this residence. The Empress was walking with her father in the winding alleys of the park; and, after a few turns, both sat down on a stone bench, near the little bridge leading to the island. The Princess was thinking of the happy days she had passed here a few years before, and took pleasure in relating them to her father, when suddenly a harsh cawing "Caw, caw!" was heard close to their ears. They looked, and saw a bird flying from the thicket behind them; Marie Louise uttered a cry of terror, for she had recognized the crow of 1810.

The legendary bird has not forsaken the old trees and lawns of Trianon. The gardener and servants of the palace are most attentive to the wants of the old pensioner, provide it with food in abundance, and relate its wonderful story to visitors.

Saxe says that Vermont is famous for four crops—men, women, maple sugar, and horses. The first are strong, the last fleet, the second are sweet, and the [illegible] are uncommonly [illegible].

THE COLORADO SPRINGS GAZETTE,

AND EL PASO COUNTY NEWS.

SEPTEMBER 27, 1873.

THE CHARACTER.—You owe it to yourselves to rally literally to its support, and exact from it as fine, high toned a character as you would from any educator in your midst. It is in no sense beneath notice and care for it is your representative. Indeed, in its character, it is the summation of the importance, interest and welfare of you all. It is the aggregate of your own consequence, and you cannot ignore it without miserably depreciating yourselves.—New York Times.

A question which now seems to be agitating the minds of some of our citizens is, Whether, supposing the South Park line should be built from this point, will Colorado Springs be an Eastern Terminus or a Way Station?

It would be difficult for anyone to answer that question, for railway companies have to be guided by circumstances, and cannot always do just what they would. The state of the money market, the currents of trade, and so forth exercise a very forcible influence, and as no one can predict exactly what they will be in the future, so no one, not even railway managers themselves, can predict exactly what will be their future action.

But Colorado Springs may be very well contented for the present, if it can secure the construction of the road, with a junction with the main line of the Denver and Rio Grande Railway at this point. The future may then be left, with a considerable amount of confidence, to take care of itself.

We are well aware that there is something almost ominous in the sound of the word "Way-Station" to so many places, which fancied that railways were going to exalt them into great commercial centres, have found that the track, as it laid them down, took away with it the elements of their prosperity. But such can never be the case with Colorado Springs. The place have nothing in it or around it to build it up, its confidence in railways will generally result in confusion, and it may have abundant cause to amend that cry of "Way-Station" after all. A Way-Station! but where, as here, there are intrinsic elements of prosperity, every additional branch of railway communication, no matter whether it stops there, or goes on, elsewhere, must be an incalculable advantage.

What is Colorado Springs now but a Way Station between Denver and Pueblo? Yet we are surely not left out in the cold. There is scarcely a Denver citizen who goes down to Pueblo, or a Pueblo citizen who goes up to Denver, who does not stop over at this Way Station, and refresh himself with a sight of our beautiful scenery or a draught from our noted Springs. And the visitors from both these places are astonished to find that this little Way Station, about midway between two metropolis, and but a short distance from either, is yet rapidly developing into an important point, with a large and independent trade of its own.

Should the South Park Railway develop, in the future, into a transcontinental road, and thus make Colorado Springs a Way Station upon it instead of a Terminus, the same thing will be repeated on a much larger and more advantageous scale. We should then be on the favorite highway to Utah and California, (for undoubtedly a route through the great Parks of Colorado would be a very attractive one to travelers) and this would be a point at which nearly everyone would make a halt by the way. How is it now? Travelers bound for California go to Denver, or via Cheyenne direct, and, if they pay a flying visit to Pike's Peak they do so at an additional expense of time and money; yet a very large proportion of those who are bound for the Pacific Slope already register their names at our Hotels. Most assuredly if Colorado Springs were directly on the way, not one traveler out of ten, who would cross the Continent in search of health or pleasure, would pass us by, and many, charmed by the attractions which charm nearly every one who comes here, would conclude that there was sufficient of beautiful scenery and of delightful climate to satisfy them, and that it was needless to travel further in search of them.

Look at it which way we may, the South Park Railway, if it can only be accomplished, must inevitably confer great advantages on our Town. If it should terminate here, and raise us to [illegible]

As Winter approaches, it is desirable that some steps should be taken to provide intelligent recreation for our citizens. The fact that during the past week, two lectures—one of them a purely scientific one—have attracted large audiences, shows that our people are quite ready to avail themselves of all opportunities of recreating themselves and improving their minds; and there can be but little doubt that a weekly entertainment of some kind or other, would be much appreciated.

The chief obstacle is lack of a commodious room, but there is good prospect that we shall soon have one,—as soon, probably, as any arrangements for such a course of entertainments could be completed.

Last Winter we had a Lyceum, which did some good service in its way, but which died as Spring approached, and as interest was diverted, for a time, by the establishment of the Fire Company. Another dead institution is the "Society of Natural Science," which set out with some very worthy aims, but which was dead going at too early a stage in the history of the Town, there being too few people of literary or scientific tastes to keep the ball rolling.

One or other, or both of these societies, or something of a kindred character, ought to be got into working shape. In a Town containing so many intelligent people, we ought certainly to have a Library, a Reading Room, a Museum, a Chess Club, and a regular course of Literary, Scientific and Musical Entertainments. Cannot something be done to accomplish this?

Friend Wanless is growing rich fast. A very fine boy this time.

Professor Hayden's surveying party are now camped at the mouth of Bear Creek Cañon. Professor Hayden and others made the ascent of the Peak yesterday for the purpose of determining its height.

The Colony memberships now number 522, showing a steady increase. And yet we are told that people are deterred from investing here, through the "Colony on the Kites." The town, to our thinking, grows quite fast enough for its strength.

During Fair week the Denver and Rio Grande Railway will give excursion rates from all points on the road to Denver. Return tickets will be sold at a fare and a third. The return ticket from Colorado Springs will be $7.75.

The children of the Methodist Sunday School had a singing practice in the church on Wednesday evening last. They have been provided with a new set of books and seem to be very much interested in the practices.

Mr. Jesse Randall, the collector of the Georgetown (Randall) Canon, called at our office the other day to show us a specimen of marble from a ledge which he has recently discovered in South Park, and which, he thinks, will prove to be of considerable value.

The Rev. H. B. Gage has resigned the charge of the Presbyterian Church of Colorado Springs, and will probably leave during the coming month. His destination is not yet determined upon. Mr. Gage was one of our earliest citizens, and has been the chief instrument in building up the Presbyterian Church here—both material and spiritual.

It would be a good thing if some people would practice what they preach. We heard a gentleman the other day holding forth on the importance of patronizing home institutions, and the next day, down at the depot, we saw a lot of goods which had just come from Denver for him. Our own merchants have strong claims which should not be overlooked. Many of them are carrying heavy stocks, and well assorted stocks, too; and they are selling at rates which leave them only a comparatively small margin of profit. They are therefore entitled to support from their fellow-citizens and ought to have it. Unless they receive it, how is the Town to be built up as a place of any commercial importance?

The injunction case, R. C. Childs vs. B. F. Sweet, was heard before Judge Elbert, at the County Clerk's Office on Tuesday and Wednesday last. The case arose out of two notices of sale issued by the defendant, based, one upon a mortgage for the security of certain promissory notes, and the other upon an agreement that certain stock might be sold to reimburse the defendant for any moneys paid out by him for the running expenses of what is known as "The Childs' Ranche." The application of Mr. Childs was for an injunction to stop the sales, and numerous reasons were given in support of his application for the writ which was filed. His Honor gave a very patient and careful hearing to the case, and, at its close, dismissed the application as to the sale under the mortgage; in regard to the other sale, he reserved judgment that the defend-

It can't be said of the weather that it's neither hot nor cold, for it is both.

We are pleased to see that Judge McFerran is again about.

Professor Hayden, of the U. S. Geological Survey, was in Town on Thursday last.

The building on the Summit of Pike's Peak will probably be ready for the roof on Wednesday next.

Probate Court of El Paso County will open on the 4th of October, and District Court on the 4th of November.

The road up the hill on the west side of the Monument needs some attention. Buggy springs cannot be bought for nothing.

General Palmer and family, and his secretary, Mr. C. F. Stevens, left yesterday for Philadelphia. We understand that they are likely to be away for some considerable time.

Colorado City, to console herself for the loss of the County Seat, has set up a Dance House. This is an institution which we need no wish to take away from her.

Mrs. Fitz Hugh Ludlow, a lady who bears a name that is well-known and honored in the West, is amongst the guests at the Colorado Springs Hotel.

There was a runaway on Thursday between here and Colorado City. The wagon contained several sewing-machines, which were taken up in a rather bad condition.

Mr. A. B. Hart has removed his Blacksmith Shop to Ford's stand, on the corner of Cascade Avenue and Huerfano Street.

Mr. R. C. Lyon qualified as Justice of the Peace on Thursday last, and is now ready for business. His office will be in Mr. Humphrey's Brick Building opposite the Post Office.

Messrs. Swisher, Holmes & Co. have dissolved partnership. Mr. Holmes will continue the Transfer business, and will also resume the Livery Business at the old stand on Tejon Street.

Our County Clerk reports that business is very brisk with him, and that he and his deputy have had hard work to keep pace with it.

A gymnastic performance was given in Foote's Hall last Saturday evening, when several of our amateurs presented themselves before the public. There was a fair attendance, and those who were there were very well satisfied with the performance.

During the hearing of the Injunction case the other day, Judge Elbert was tried to put in a word or two. His eloquence, however, was cut short, as Judge Elbert parcelled him over to the tender mercies of the Sheriff.

Mr. R. Rickens has established a stone-yard on Tejon Street, just north of Wanless' new building. Some of the finest building stone in the Territory is now being quarried in this neighborhood, and may be seen at the aforesaid yard.

Some little excitement was caused on Huerfano Street on Tuesday evening, by the upsetting of a buggy. The occupants, a man and boy, were thrown out, and the former was rather badly cut in the face by falling upon a stone.

We acknowledge the receipt of invitations to the opening of the Summit Station on Pike's Peak, to the Annual Fair at Denver, and to the Convention on Irrigation in the same city. We shall do our best to respond to all.

A meeting of the Town Trustees was held on Tuesday evening; Mr. Matt. France in the chair. There was a full board present. Several bills were received, and referred to the finance committee.

Mr. Humphrey, who bought the two lots at the corner of Pike's Peak Avenue and Tejon Street, has sold off about half of them in small lots, and realized within $100 of the price which he paid for the whole. The prices for lots 22 feet by 47½ feet have ranged from $300 to $500.

Messrs. Chase and Howbert will have the Tax List in shape for collection by the first of next month. This is a month or so earlier than the time when it was ready last year. Tax-payers will, doubtless, feel deeply grateful that such an improvement has been brought about.

We were favored yesterday with calls from Professor E. D. Cope and Lieut. Stevenson, of the Hayden Expedition. Professor Hayden and Lieut. Stevenson are likely to spend a few days in Colorado Springs, after which they will return to Washington, to put into shape the results of this season's explorations and to make arrangements for next year's work.

A petition is about to be presented to the County Commissioners, asking for the location of a road from Colorado Springs to Bear Creek. At present, the settlers in that neighborhood have great difficulty in getting to and from their farms, and the matter, we hope, will have immediate attention. Such a road is also most desirable in connection with the Pike's Peak Trail.

Here is how outsiders look at the Railway Bond question. The Golden

The County Commissioners have appointed Mr. W. F. Chase attorney for the county.

Married people, look at the Divorce Notices in our advertising columns. And, let him that thinketh he standeth take heed lest he fall.

Grace Greenwood will give an Entertainment—consisting of Readings and Recitations in costume—in the Presbyterian Church on Tuesday evening next.

Amongst to-day's arrivals at Colorado Springs, were Mr. Thomas Cree, Secretary of the Indian Peace Commission, Mr. Otto Mears, of Saguache, and John C. Heenan, the ex-pugilist.

Farmers and gardeners should remember that the coming month is a capital time for ploughing. Bear in mind that fall ploughing and fall irrigating will make less work and larger crops next Spring and Summer come.

Mrs. Wallace brought us the other day, an exceedingly handsome bouquet gathered from Mrs. McGuire's garden. We placed it alongside Mr. Gould's, and could not decide which deserved the palm. We also acknowledge receipt of a basket of vegetables from Capt. DeCoursey, including some very fine Lima beans and an enormous radish that was big enough to be a beet. We propose another year to set up an exhibition of garden products.

Somebody has stolen the collar belonging to our hack. Newfound, and said somebody knows the collar for his own wearing, he is free we come to it; otherwise, we shall be glad if he will return it at his earliest convenience, as dogs which go around uncollared are liable to extermination, and we can't afford to lose a hack."

The Signal Corps report high wind on the Peak on Thursday—the highest they have experienced there. The velocity was fifty miles an hour. The Signal Corps on Mount Washington have been reporting a wind of one hundred miles an hour, but our boys intend to beat them yet, even if they have to "blow" themselves.

We had the pleasure of a call on Wednesday last from Judge Hallet, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the Territory. He expressed much astonishment at the rapid progress which has been made here. To one who, not many years ago, had a narrow escape from Indians on the spot where our Town now stands, the up-growth of such a thriving young city in so short a time, must undoubtedly be somewhat surprising.

Our postmaster is now set up with the most commodious office in the Territory outside of Denver. A large number of additional lock and glass boxes are to be provided at once, and the accommodation will then be all that can be desired. The amount of mail matter that is now received at and sent from the Colorado Springs post-office entitles it to rank as the equal, if not superior of any in the southern part of the Territory.

Messrs. France, Howbert & Co., have just completed a full set of Abstracts of Titles to property in El Paso County, including Colorado Springs. In the course of their work, they have detected many flaws in deeds conveying property in Town, owing to the ignorance or carelessness of those who have drawn them up, and it will be well for those who have bought property in Town at second hand to consult them, as future complications may thus be avoided, at a very trifling present outlay. Messrs. France & Co's Abstract Books will also be of much value to such people as make loans secured on real estate. Now that there is such a set, our citizens can only blame themselves if they have any defective titles.

TAXES AND TAX-PAYERS.

Every now and again, somebody comes forward with the patent discovery that railroad companies are loaded and soulless corporations which are continually imposing heavy burdens of taxation on the sections through which their roads run. This had to be dragged into the County Seat question at the late election, and there were many who voted against Colorado Springs simply because it was considered that the Denver and Rio Grande Railway Company have an interest in building up this Town. Does it never occur to those people, who make an outcry about railways causing taxation, that, as a rule, railways are by far the heaviest tax-payers that can be found, and that it would be cutting their own throats for them to encourage, in any way, unnecessary and unbeneficial taxation? The assessment of the Denver and Rio Grande Railway Company alone amounts to over two hundred thousand dollars, which, with that of the kindred companies,—the Colorado Springs Company, National Land and Improvement Company and Central Colorado Improvement Company (which are operated here through its influence),—reaches nearly a million dollars, or about one-fourth of the total assessment of the County. Should the South Park Railway be constructed via the Ute Pass, this proportion, will, of course, be largely increased.

Bringing the question to the test of actual facts, what do we find—that the advent of the railway has increased the burden of taxation or not? In 1869, the county tax was 22 mills; in 1870, 18 mills;

GRACE GREENWOOD'S LECTURE

There was a full house on Tuesday evening to hear Grace Greenwood's lecture on "The Heroic in Common Life."

Citing many instances of renowned heroism, which will forever live on the pages of history owing to the prominence of the actors therein, or the notoriety of the occurrences, the lecturer gave parallels (many of which had come under her own knowledge) in which the heroes and heroines were unhonored and unsung—people belonging to the lower ranks of life,—outcast women, unknown engineers and firemen, common sailors, little children, but who had done deeds of daring and self-sacrifice that were well worthy to rank alongside any of those which had been made known to admiring world.

Passing from specific cases, the lecturer proceeded to show how common life abounds with opportunities for the exercise of those virtues which constitute true heroism, and how the discharge of ordinary duties frequently evokes them. She showed, in brief, that high station or great circumstances are by no means necessary to the creation of heroes, but that opportunities cluster round the path of every one.

The lecture was listened to throughout with the deepest attention, and the recitation of one or two poems, appropriate to the subject—especially that of "Lynn of Virginia"—had a marked effect upon the audience.

In the latter part of the lecture humor was indulged in, and called forth some hearty laughter, especially a passage in which the lecturer spoke of the degeneracy of physical power in the women of the present day as compared with that of their great-great-grand-mothers. Narrating the well-known story of the siege of a town in Germany, when, at the surrender, the women were allowed to depart in peace carrying with them their most precious possessions, and each woman was soon afterwards seen emerging from the gates with her husband or lover upon her back, the lecturer asked what the women before her would do, if Colorado Springs were besieged by some powerful be—"the old Town" for instance,—and, being overcome, after a stout resistance, by the force of superior numbers, the enemy offered such terms as were offered to the German women. She feared that it would fare rather hard with some of the men.

The proceeds of the lecture, amounting to about $56, after deducting all expenses, were given to the Episcopal Church Building Fund.

The Episcopal Church Building Committee desire to tender their thanks, through our columns, to Grace Greenwood, for her kindness in delivering the lecture "The Heroic in Common Life," the net proceeds of which, (sixty-six dollars and sixty cents,) they have received through the hands of Mr. Gerard De Coursey.

COLORADO BEFORE THE FLOOD

Professor Cope, of Philadelphia, who has spent the Summer in Colorado making Geological examinations, in connection with the Hayden Expedition, delivered an interesting lecture on the above subject in the Reading Room last evening. The room was crowded, and many were obliged to leave for lack of accommodation. By the aid of the black-board, Professor Cope succeeded in presenting his subject with so much clearness that the most unscientific were able to follow him, and to derive a large amount of interest and instruction from his lecture.

Beginning with a general sketch of the three great divisions in the earth's crust,—the Paleozoic or Old Life, the Mesozoic, or Middle Life, and the Tertiary, or New Life—he proceeded to show to which of these three great divisions the different portions of country round Colorado Springs belong. Pike's Peak, he said, was of Paleozoic rock, for of rocks belonging to a period subsequent to that, when there was no life. The red rocks leaning against the mountain,—those in the neighborhood of Manitou, including the rocks of the Garden of the Gods,—were assigned to the Mesozoic period; while the Mesas (the "Divide" amongst them, for Professor Cope said it was of the same formation) were said to be Tertiary. The Mountain Range, the audience were told, was thrust up at the close of the Mesozoic Period, this being evident from the fact that the Mesozoic rocks,—the sandstones, limestones, etc.—were thrust up along with the great mountains, and now lie tilted against their sides; whereas the Tertiary rocks—those composing the mesas, etc.—lie horizontally, showing that they were deposited after the Mountain Range was elevated.

The Rocky Mountains are therefore quite young in comparison with some other ranges—the Alleghanies, for instance—and this, the lecturer pointed out, caused them to be so gigantic in size and so rugged and picturesque in form, the older ranges of mountains having been ground down by the long lapse of ages and they are comparatively insignificant in height and smoothed and rounded in outline.

covering to constitute large areas of country, the mesas and the country in their neighborhood showing plainly that they have been made from the débris of the mountains.

The successive beds, of which this newer country is composed, were formed underneath the waters of a series of fresh-water lakes, the débris of the mountains being carried down thither by the numerous mountain-streams, and deposited upon their bottoms. These beds of ancient lakes contain numerous remains of the animals which lived in the former ages, those whose remains are found in one set of beds being quite different from those found in another, and all of them differing from the kinds which are now in existence. Respecting these old-world animals,—some of them very remarkable in their structure—Professor Cope gave some very interesting particulars, tending to show the character of the climate and the country when they were in existence, and concluded with some rather bold speculations (founded on the study of comparative anatomy) as to the origin of the human race.

BUILDING AND OTHER IMPROVEMENTS.

Mr. Buckingham has made a two-story addition to his residence on Huerfano Street.

Mr. Root has begun work on his building on Tejon Street.

Mr. Degraff has his residence on Weber Street nearly completed.

Ex-Sheriff Stubbs intends shortly to build himself a residence in Colorado Springs.

Mr. Henry Payton seems to be doing a large share of the building which is going on in town. He has now in hand buildings for Major McAllister, Dr. Suther and Mr. Wanless, and himself, and is doing very creditable work.

If our bricklayers would make their mortar-joints a little thinner, their work would look all the better.

The open-timbered roof of the Episcopal Church has been completed, and is a piece of good workmanship, when stained and varnished, it will have a very handsome appearance.

Mr. Burnett is touching up his residence on Wahsatch Avenue, and otherwise improving his property.

Mr. Kerrick is making improvements on his residence on Wahsatch Avenue.

Mr. [illegible] Curtis has nearly finished his residence on Cascade Avenue. It is a handsome building of two stories.

Mr. [illegible] Whipple is building himself a residence on Tejon Street near to Boulder.

The second story of Mr. Wanless' Building, on the corner of Pike's Peak Avenue and Tejon Street, will, when completed, be used as the temporary Court House. The walls are running up at a good rate.

Bricks or stone, with sheet iron, instead of shingles, for roofs of buildings, are bended to be the rule in Colorado Springs. All the less work for the Fire Company.

Amongst others who are mentioned as about to build themselves residences at Colorado Springs are Miss Anna Dickinson, Dr. Hayden, the eminent Explorer and Geologist, and Mrs. Fitz Hugh Ludlow, widow of the author of "The Heart of the Continent."

The first loads of brick for the School House were hauled on to the ground yesterday; and the bricklayers will get to work on Monday or Tuesday next. The building will then be pushed forward as rapidly as possible.

The brick front of Mr. Weed's building, next to Wm. B. Young & Co's bank, is being rapidly pushed forward. Mr. Martin has already a large stock of China, Glassware, etc., in the building.

The walls of Major McAllister's house on Cascade Avenue are rising rapidly. When completed, it will be far the handsomest residence yet put up in the Town, but we understand that others will shortly be erected in the same neighborhood, which will be quite worthy to show their faces alongside of it.

There is a gentleman in Town, who intends to establish Machine Shops somewhere in the Territory, and is looking for a suitable location. We hear that he is favorably impressed with Colorado Springs, and will very probably make it his choice.

We have been informed that a company is about to be incorporated for the purpose of putting up a block of brick buildings, the second story of which is to be devoted to a Public Hall. We heard that it was Mr. Wanless' intention to make the upper story of his brick building a Room for public purposes; and when the School House is completed, we shall have a very commodious room here, so that, at present, there is an abundant prospect of accommodation in the Public Hall line.

A New Orleans paper tells of a printer who, when his fellow workmen went out to drink beer, during the working hours, put in the same the exact amount which he would have spent if he

NewspaperARCHIVE.com

THE SPORTING FRATERNITY.

To the Editor of the Gazette:

SIR.—It is with grief and indignation that I notice communications flying thick and fast through the columns of your contemporary, from persons who are endeavoring to get up matches or fight between their respective dogs and cats.

Is it for this that we sained pioneers of '73, have toiled, endured privations and fought grass-hoppers and—things for the past two years? Must the result of our labors be grasped and monopolized by this disreputable so-called "sporting fraternity" and its organ?

Shall dog-fights and cat-fights be the favorite diversion of the rising generation who will soon succeed us in representing the best interests of the country? For shame, gentlemen!

Let us cultivate a higher aim in life than to own the best fighting dog or the game cat in town.

We are these parties that thus thrust themselves upon the public notice, and of what material is their much vaunted stock? Do we know anything of the fighting qualities of their dogs or their cats, or does anyone know anything of them? Where is their record?

As for myself, though an humble and unpretentious citizen, yet I am willing to bring these fellows to the test by putting my six-shooter dog "Dick," with bow legs and saddle-colored belly, against any two of their cats, for one hundred dollars a corner; the animals to be weighed up in a gunny-sack, and fight according to the New Jersey code and catch weights. The result to be decided by the Foreman of the Fire Company, one Town Trustee, and a member of the School Board, who will act as referees and referees. Now, my ingenuous men of the "sporting fraternity," these are my terms; read them carefully, and then put up or—shut up.

REFORMER.

TERRITORIAL JOTTINGS.

Denver is busy preparing for the Great Fair, which opens on Tuesday next. As the Denver News says, the farmers have already been looking carefully over their fields for enormous beets which they may exhibit as "average" specimens, and the ladies are busy in contriving the grandest dishes for which they hope to obtain prizes. Now, therefore, nothing remains but for all the people of the Territory to gather together and behold the result. We are glad to learn that there is every prospect that the fair will be a great success.

Governor Hunt, well-known the great Irrigation Convention, which is to meet in Denver on the 15th of October, and which, it is hoped, will result in the evolution of some grand scheme for bringing water from "green fields and fertile valleys" on to the arid plains. If something is not thus accomplished, something may, perhaps, be accomplished—that is to say, it is pretty certain to rain. Hitherto the rain has fallen gently to all length, and in quantity little better, "dust and ashes" and the advice to "put other things aside for first-class."

The Central City Register says that, when the Legislature meets, an attempt will be made to settle upon the Territory the bonded debts of such towns as have voted aid to the road out of such indebtedness. It is little linked of any, but it will make its appearance, as certain as the Assembly sits, and its development may, in some sense, depend on the encouragement it receives. This, says another paper, is only an attempt on the part of Arapahoe County to get rid of a load she can not carry. She would find this load lightened by asking the aid of the other counties, and she will have to choose of it without their help. Which of which we most cordially agree. If Denver wants all the good things of the Territory railways included, let her pay for them. Four Colorado Springs representatives does not put a spoke in that wheel, we shall be much mistaken.

Denver, by the way, ought to be asked to pay, without grumbling or grudging, if all her citizens as well as one Maxime Croze, who, it is said, has been engaged in business of a mercantile character imaginary, we believe, for the past three years in this city, and has just retired with a capital of over $21,000. Report has it that she is about to be married to a prominent professional gentleman of the city. The trouble is that, if milliners grow rich, it is a sign that somebody has had to boo some pretty long bills.

Colorado can a ready boast a population whose general intelligence and refinement somewhat astonishes the easterners who come hither, armed to the teeth with bowie-knives and revolvers, expecting to find us benighted savages living in a howling wilderness. The time, we believe, is not far distant when we shall have a population which may favorably compare, as to intelligence, taste, culture, and all the solid graces of city civilization, with any in the world. As the Greeley Tribune pointedly remarks, nothing is more certain than that many of the best people in the States, with high culture, fine taste, and wealth, are coming to Colorado to live. It is invariably the case that, when a person of this class comes hither, he or she is at once charmed with the mountain scenery, the pure, bracing air, and the solid roads, and then comes the thought, expressed in words, "I want to live here." This sort has only commenced to operate, and it will spread and grow, year after year, one generation after generation, until Europe and the Asias will sink into comparative insignificance.

Meanwhile, more and more Territory is being won, by peaceful triumphs, from the Indians, and savagery contracts and recedes. The Hon. Felix R. Brunot, Chairman of the Indian Peace Commission, has just succeeded in bringing to a favorable issue the negotiations which have so long been going on with the Utes for the cession of the San Juan country. The agreement, says the Denver News, specifies that for certain considerations the Indians cede to the Government a portion of the country in Southwestern Colorado, from the eastern line of the Reservation to within a few miles of the San Miguel River, where it follows south the range of the San Juan Mountains, containing about 3,500,000 acres, and covering a section sixty miles wide by seventy-five in length. This embraces the San Juan mines. The Uncompahgre country is excepted, and if it is found that any of that section infringes upon this Territory as laid off, the lines are to be run so as to throw it out. The agreement expressly stipulates that all that country where mines have been discovered, or are likely to be found, shall be turned over to the Government.

Most of the tourists have now taken their departure, and trains from the East come in lightly laden; a few mornings ago the X. P. brought to Denver one solitary passenger. It is gratifying to know, however, that, with very few exceptions, our Summer visitors have been delighted with their visits, and will not fail to recommend Colorado to their friends. Well-informed railroad men—those whose business it is to study the passenger traffic—say, too, that the travel to Colorado next year will be quite or more than double that of this year.

Invalids continue to come, many of them to recover, some of them to die almost as soon as they arrive. It cannot be too frequently reiterated that consumptives, when far gone, have little to hope from coming to Colorado, and that better stay at home amongst their friends. To such as are not very far advanced in the disease, Colorado offers a most certain cure.

The ingathering of the harvest is nearly over, and crops generally are reported good. In the northern part of the Territory, the grass-hoppers made havoc, yet a fair yield was obtained, and from most portions in Southern Colorado, comes the news that the crops are more than usually abundant. Weather is now favorable for fall work.

Business as a rule is good; collections have been easier of late; and a brisk Fall trade is looked for.

During the past few days, Denver has had two important judicial investigations. First, the trial of Andrew McLaughlin for the killing of William Burton, on the 27th of June. The trial, which lasted for several days, and was watched with keen interest by the Denver people, owing to the standing of both parties, came to a conclusion on Thursday, when Judge Kingsley announced that he could see nothing in the testimony to warrant the holding of McLaughlin for any degree of homicide, and accordingly discharged him. The audience in court shouted, and applauded, and cheered, we are informed, until people up and down the street two blocks away were surprised at the uproar. These murders in Denver are something of which Denver has cause to be ashamed, and are the bitter crop of a rottenness which must assuredly exist on a very wide-spread scale. The other case was one arising out of the Public Library Concert and Gift Scheme, which has recently been so freely advertised. Postmaster Bennett brought proceedings against the manager, John W. Sutherlin, for making an illegal use of the post-office by sending circulars through it, the object of which was to defraud. The defendant was held over in $1,000 to answer the charge. Sutherlin has retaliated by bringing an action for trespass against the Government; damages $50,000. He says that the scheme is a perfectly honorable one, that the drawing will positively take place, and that the Library will certainly be established. So, all we have to say is that this Gift Lottery will be a marvelous exception to an almost universal rule. Nine out of ten of them are most immitigated swindles; and Libraries and Hospitals and so forth, cannot be obtained without them, they and better not be obtained at a .

HOW THE WORLD WAGS.

The financial out look begins to brighten, and it is thought by many that the worst is now over.

Jay Cooke & Company have prepared a statement of their assets and liabilities which is to be submitted to their creditors. The following is a summary of their liabilities: $7,030,200 in assets, bills receivable, bank, insurance and other stocks; bonds and real estate, $7,867,640; loans to the North Pacific Railway Company, $3,750,000; stock of the Oregon Navigation Company, $1,500,000; loans to the North Pacific Railroad Company on bonds of the company, $4,068,315; second mortgage railroad bonds, stocks, etc., $2,550,350, making a total of $15,036,112. The above exhibits of liabilities exclusive of $1,701,140, loans of the firm which are fully secured by good collaterals. The excess of collaterals upon these loans has been estimated and included in the assets. The firm expects soon to submit a proposition for settlement which its creditors will receive with the acceptable to the latter, although it will, of course, require time for the conversion of its assets. The handsome showing made leaves no doubt of its ability to pay every dollar of its indebtedness with interest and still have a surplus of several million dollars.

A Washington dispatch says that the most opinion of depositor, next to President Grant, in the First National Bank, is Andrew Johnson. At the time of the failure of the bank, Mr. Johnson had $60,000 to his credit, on which he was receiving six per cent. interest, and this was its only revenue, and should the bank be unable to discharge its obligations, a contingency by no means improbable, ex President Johnson will be a more penniless.

From Arizona we learn that the Apaches have been again at their bloody work. Upon September 12th, they killed Wm. Sampson, on Final Creek, Arizona. Sheriff Tyner, of Yuma, captured Manuel Lubiate, the murderer of Lum Foy, and while the party were on the way to Maricopa County, the people took the prisoner from the Sheriff and hanged him. It seems as though nothing short of extermination would work a permanent cure.

From the South comes the good news that yellow fever is decreasing, and that leading physicians are sanguine as to its permanent abatement.

Amongst other items of news which come to hand from Washington are the announcements first, that Treasurer Spinner is very sick with malaria fever; secondly, that the President has tendered the office of Chief Justice to Senator Conkling, and that the Senator will accept.

Of foreign news, one of the most important items is that France has paid to Germany the last instalment of the war indemnity, and is now free from the presence of her foe.

The "cry of the children" of the female gender in China must be vociferous indeed, if, as says the Chinese provincial treasurer of Tientsin, their parents drown them at the rate of eighty per cent. This person has issued an edict to his people forbidding this methodical thinning out the female population, and bribes them with various arguments and threats to induce them to desist from the inhuman practice. Among other convincing arguments he remarks that the children can be sent to a foundling hospital; that they will find husbands if allowed to live, etc. He also threatens them with the vengeance of heaven, and imprisonment for wilful murder.

METEOROLOGICAL REPORT.

From readings taken for the Smithsonian Institute by Mr. E. Copley, at Colorado Springs.

THERMOMETER.						SKIES.
SEPT.	1873	7 A. M.	2 P. M.	9 P. M.	Mean of day
18,	"	43 5	64	50 1	54 5	Fair
19,	"	42 5	62	46	50 2	"
20,	"	49 5	68	48 5	55 3	Clear.
21,	"	46	67	49 5	54 3	"
22,	"	51	70	50	57	"
23,	"	59	81 3	49 5	60 3	"
24,	"	41	56	37	44 7	"
Mean of Week		46 21	66 93	49 21	54 14

A few drops of rain fell on the 21st. First frost on the 20th; nothing injured.

DENVER AND RIO GRANDE RAILWAY.

EARNINGS FOR THE WEEK ENDING SEPT. 21.

Main Line.
Passenger	$2,221.28
Freight	3,768.02
Miscellaneous	18.75
Total	$6,008.05
Arkansas Valley Branch.
Freight	$107.90
Passenger	415.09
Total	$522.99

SPECIAL NOTICES.

SLOAN SAW MILL AND LUMBER CO.

The above company, having sold their business in Colorado Springs, have put their accounts into the hands of MR. J. A. DAVIDSON for collection. All persons indebted are notified that prompt payment will be enforced.

FOR SALE.

Horse, Buggy, and Harness. Horse gentle and sound; is perfectly safe for a lady to ride or drive. Can be seen at S. M. Sanders' Livery Stable.

SELECT SCHOOL.

A school will be opened on Monday, September 29th, opposite the Baptist Church, by JULIA D. BAGNERD.

Terms—$3.00 and $4.00 per month. Higher English taught if desired.

References—Rev. J. B. Gage, and Rev. F. C. Millington.

FOR RENT.

Two large unfurnished rooms on first floor of Hunt House. Enquire of Wm. Wagner, D. & R. G. R. R. Office.

THREE STORES TO LET.

Thomas Wanless requests persons wishing to rent business houses to consult him immediately in regard to the size and finish, as he will have three to rent by October 1st; one on Tejon Street, and two on Pike's Peak Avenue.

FOR SALE.

Block 210, containing four acres, on Tejon Street, north of University Grounds; also lot three, block 21, on Cascade Avenue. Inquire of S. F. ANDROSE.

WANTING CLASS.

MR. W. H. MEEK is about to establish a Writing Class in the office formerly occupied by the Mountaineer, on Pike's Peak Avenue. The class will meet on Monday evening next, at seven o'clock. Terms, $3.00 per scholar for twelve sessions. Mr. Meek shows some specimens of penmanship which prove him to be a master of the art.

SEWING MACHINE.

A Beckwith Sewing Machine, quite new, for sale. See advertisement in another column, for description of the Beckwith.—Apply at the office of this paper.

TRUSTEE'S SALE.

WHEREAS, Charles Holmes, of the County of El Paso, and Territory of Colorado, made and executed a certain Deed of Trust, bearing date the nineteenth day of December, A. D., one thousand eight hundred and seventy-one, to Alfred Sayre, of the County of Arapahoe, and Territory of Colorado, of the following described real estate, situate, lying and being in the County of El Paso, in said Territory of Colorado, viz: The south half of northwest ¼ of section number 6, in township No. 6, south of range No. 65, west, containing seventy-three acres, and ninety hundredths, said being the homestead of said Charles Holmes, commuted to cash entry, December 8th, 1871, which said deed of trust is duly recorded in the office of the County Clerk and Recorder, of said County of El Paso, on the twenty-third day of December, A. D., 1871, in Book "A" at page ninety-six, and was given to secure to William A. Bell, the payment of a certain promissory note, bearing date the eleventh day of October, A. D., 1871, made by the said Charles Holmes, and payable to the order of the said William A. Bell, with special covenants in said promissory note contained, said note being due and payable six months after the date thereof, for the sum of one thousand dollars, with interest at twenty per cent. per annum to maturity;

AND WHEREAS, default was and still is made in the payment of the said promissory note, and interest thereon, according to the terms and conditions of the said note, and of said deed of trust.

Now therefore, at the request of the said William A. Bell, and in pursuance of the provisions of said deed of trust, and by virtue of the power and authority granted to me and by the same, I shall, on Monday, the third day of November, A. D., 1873, at the door of the Court House, in the town of Colorado Springs, in the Territory of Colorado, to the highest and best bidder for the same, for cash, sell and dispose of at public auction, the above described premises, together with all the singular the privileges and appurtenances thereunto belonging.

ALFRED SAYRE, Trustee.

DIVORCE.

TERRITORY OF COLORADO, } ss.
County of El Paso.

In the District Court of the Third Judicial District of Colorado Territory, within and for the County of El Paso. To the November term, A. D., 1873.

Missouri Ann Cross, complainant, vs. Benjamin F. Cross, defendant. Bill for Divorce.

To Benjamin F. Cross, defendant in the above entitled cause: You are hereby notified that the said Missouri Ann Cross, complainant, has filed in said Court, on the chancery side thereof, her certain bill of complaint, praying for a divorce from you, which cause is now pending in said Court, and that a summons has been issued therein against you, returnable to the November term of said Court, to be holden at the Court House in the town of Colorado Springs, in said County and Territory aforesaid, on Tuesday, the fourth day of November, A. D. 1873, when and where you are required to appear and answer, or demur to said bill, the same will be taken for confessed, and a decree entered according thereto.

GEORGE A. BOYD, Clerk,
By Irving Howbert, Deputy.

J. M. Davidson,
Solicitor for Complainant.
Colorado Springs, Sept. 25th, 1873.

DIVORCE.

TERRITORY OF COLORADO, } ss.
County of El Paso.

In the District Court of the Third Judicial District of Colorado Territory, within and for the County of El Paso, to the November term, A. D., 1873.

Elizabeth A. Crandall, complainant, vs. Asa L. Crandall, defendant. Divorce.

To Asa L. Crandall, defendant in the above entitled cause: You are hereby notified that the said Elizabeth A. Crandall, complainant, has filed in said court, on the chancery side thereof, her certain bill of complaint, praying for a divorce from you, which cause is now pending in said court, and that a summons has been issued therein, against you, returnable to the November term of said court, to be holden at the Court House, in the town of Colorado Springs, in said county and Territory, on Tuesday, the fourth day of November, A. D., 1873. Now, therefore, unless you, the said Asa L. Crandall, be and appear in said court, on said day, and plead, answer, or demur to said bill, the same will be taken for confessed, and a decree entered according thereto.

GEORGE A. BOYD, Clerk,
By Irving Howbert, Deputy.

J. M. Davidson,
Solicitor for Complainant.
Colorado Springs, Sept. 26, 1873.

DISSOLUTION OF PARTNERSHIP.

The partnership heretofore existing between Mr. D. Swisher, Charles Holmes, Henry Burr, and Henry W. Lamb, doing business under the name and style of Swisher, Holmes & Co., is this day dissolved by mutual consent. All persons showing themselves indebted to the late firm, will please call on Mr. W. D. Sherman, at the office of Matt. France, over the post office, in Colorado Springs, and settle the same at once.

W. D. SWISHER,
CHAS. HOLMES,
HENRY BURR,
HENRY W. LAMB.

Colorado Springs, Sept. 15th, 1873.

Charles Holmes desires to announce to the citizens of Colorado Springs and vicinity, that he will continue the livery and transfer business at the old stand on Tejon Street. Thanking the public for their support in the past to the old firm, and wishing a continuation of the same, he will endeavor to please all who may call upon him.

BANKRUPTCY NOTICE.

Supreme Court of the Territory of Colorado, in Bankruptcy sitting for the district of Colorado.

In the matter of Emile Gerung, bankrupt, in bankruptcy.

A warrant in bankruptcy has been issued by said court against the estate of Emile Gerung, of the county of El Paso, of the Territory of Colorado, in said district, adjudged a bankrupt upon the petition of his creditors; and payment of any debts, and the delivery of any property belonging to said bankrupt, to him, or to his use, and the transfer of any property by him, are forbidden by law. A meeting of the creditors of said bankrupt to prove their debts and choose one or more assignees of his estate will be held at a Court of Bankruptcy, to be holden at the city of Denver, in said district, on the thirteenth day of September, A. D., 1873, at 10 o'clock a. m., at the office of Samuel E. Brown, No. 383, Larimer Street, one of the Registers in Bankruptcy of said Court.

M. A. STARTENBURG,
U. S. Marshal and Messenger in Bankruptcy.
By W. L. SALISBURY, Deputy.

Notice of Final Settlement.

TERRITORY OF COLORADO, } ss.
County of El Paso,

In the Probate Court, at the December term.

Notice is hereby given that on the December term of the Probate Court of El Paso County, made a final settlement of my executorship of the estate of William Innes, deceased.

R. A. INNES,
Executor, with the will annexed.

September 25, 1873.

NOTICE.

THE business of sawing and manufacturing of lumber heretofore carried on by the Florissant Mill Company, has this day been purchased by the undersigned, and will be carried on as heretofore.

Messrs. Castello & Chapman have consented to act as agents in Fairplay. Orders solicited.

Very Respectfully,
T. D. DE GEMPT.

Brick for Sale!

THE COLORADO SPRINGS BRICK COMPANY have a fresh kiln of Superior Brick burned and ready for delivery. No Brick will be delivered at the yard without an order from the Secretary.

WM. S. YOUNG, Secretary,
Colorado Springs Brick Co.

FOR SALE.

A fine pair of Horses; a Rockaway Carriage and a Buggy. Also one set of double harness. All in first-class order, and will be sold very cheap. For terms, inquire of S. M. Sanders, where the horses and carriages may be seen, or

W. GREGORY,
D. & R. G. R'y Office.

FOR SALE.

ONE HUNDRED AND SIXTY-FIVE ACRES of land, between Garden of the Gods and Manitou. Four miles from Rockerson. The price. Apply at this office.

DIVORCE.

TERRITORY OF COLORADO, } ss.
County of El Paso.

In the District Court of the Third Judicial District of Colorado, within and for the County of El Paso, to the November term, A. D., 1873.

Levina A. Piper, complainant, vs. Lysander B. Piper, defendant. Divorce.

To Lysander B. Piper, defendant, in the above entitled cause: You are hereby notified that the said Levina A. Piper, complainant, has filed in said Court, on the chancery side thereof, her certain bill of complaint, praying for a divorce from you, which cause is now pending in said Court, and that a summons has been issued therein against you returnable to the November term of said Court, to be holden at the Court House in the town of Colorado Springs, in the County and Territory aforesaid, on Tuesday, the fourth day of November, A. D. 1873. Now, therefore, unless you, the said Lysander B. Piper, be and appear in said Court, on said day, and plead, answer, or demur to said bill, the same will be taken for confessed, and a decree entered according thereto.

GEORGE A. BOYD, Clerk,
By I. Howbert, Deputy.

J. M. Davidson,
Solicitor for complainant.
Colorado Springs, Sept. 22d, 1873.

DIVORCE.

TERRITORY OF COLORADO, } ss.
County of El Paso.

In the District Court of the Third Judicial District of Colorado Territory, within and for the County of El Paso, to the November term, A. D., 1873.

Elizabeth A. Crandall, complainant, vs. Asa L. Crandall, defendant. Divorce.

To Asa L. Crandall, defendant in the above entitled cause: You are hereby notified that the said Elizabeth A. Crandall, complainant, has filed in said court, on the chancery side thereof, her certain bill of complaint, praying for a divorce from you, which cause is now pending in said court, and that a summons has been issued therein, against you, returnable to the November term of said court, to be holden at the Court House, in the town of Colorado Springs, in said county and Territory, on Tuesday, the fourth day of November, A. D., 1873. Now, therefore, unless you, the said Asa L. Crandall, be and appear in said court, on said day, and plead, answer, or demur to said bill, the same will be taken for confessed, and a decree entered according thereto.

GEORGE A. BOYD, Clerk,
By Irving Howbert, Deputy.

J. M. Davidson,
Solicitor for Complainant.
Colorado Springs, Sept. 26, 1873.

FOR SALE.

EIGHTY ACRES FINE FARMING LAND under cultivation, with good irrigating ditches located on Cheyenne Creek, about three miles from Colorado Springs. Good house and barns on the premises. Will be sold at very low figures for cash. Parties may see a sketch of the place at the place by calling on

MATT. FRANCE,
Office, over P. O. Col. Springs.

Or ISAAC CARPENTER.

HOTEL PROPERTY FOR SALE.

BY VIRTUE OF THE POWERS CONFERRED in a certain Deed of Trust dated the 30th day of March, A. D. 1873, given by W. W. Allen to J. C. Wilson, Trustee, and L. W. Hill, H. E. Freeman, and J. R. Early advisers and associates in trust, to secure the payment of certain promissory notes given by the said W. W. Allen, and whereas, default in the payment of said notes have been made by the said W. W. Allen, the undersigned will offer at Public Sale, on Saturday, the 4th day of October, 1873, at 2 p. m., at the front door of the Court House in Colorado Springs, Colorado, the Hotel in the town of Colorado Springs, Colorado, known as the

LAFONT HOUSE,

together with all the Furniture, Fixtures, etc. belonging to the same, as specified in the Deed of Trust to them. Any information in relation to the above will be cheerfully given by the undersigned.

J. C. WILSON,
Trustee, Colorado Springs.

Dissolution of Partnership.

THE Co-partnership heretofore existing between the undersigned, under the firm name of TRUE, HUNTER & CO., is this day dissolved by mutual consent. The business will be carried on hereafter by H. A. TRUE and A. SUTTON, under the firm name of TRUE & SUTTON, who assume all liabilities, and to whom all debts due the firm are payable.

H. A. TRUE,
J. W. HUNTER,
A. SUTTON.

September 3, 1873.

H. A. TRUE. A. SUTTON

TRUE & SUTTON,

Successors to Field & Hill,

Cascade Avenue, Colorado Springs,

DEALERS IN

Groceries, Flour, Grain,

AND PROVISIONS.

Forwarding and Commission

MERCHANTS.

Will receive, store, and forward Freight to all Points in the Mountains, and take charge of all consignments of Ore and other shipments from the Mountains.

The Freighting business will be conducted by the undersigned, who will give prompt attention to all consignments. A. W. HUNTER.

O. T. BARKER. E. C. LUCKES.

BARKER & LUCKES,

DEALERS IN

DRY GOODS,

NOTIONS,

Clothing, Furnishing Goods, Hats,

CAPS, BOOTS AND SHOES,

Groceries, Queensware, Etc.,

ALL OF WHICH WE PROPOSE SELLING LOW FOR CASH.

Pioneer Manufacturing

COMPANY.

DEALERS IN

SASH, DOORS, BLINDS,

And Chicago Lumber,

ALSO A FULL STOCK OF

Colorado Dressed Lumber,

FLOORING, CEILING, AND MOULDINGS,

CONSTANTLY ON HAND.

All kinds of Turning, Scroll Sawing, Matching, Surfacing, Etc., done to Order

AT THE LOWEST RATES.

J. W. FAIRFIELD,
Secretary and Manager.

Sol. A. Hall's Store,

HUERFANO STREET,

IF YOU HAVE ANYTHING YOU DO NOT want, or want anything you have not got, call at the SECOND-HAND STORE.

Goods sold Cheap for Cash. Highest cash price paid for Household Goods, Horses, Wagons, and Harness for sale cheap. STAYER BROS., Props.

FOR FINE

Photographs, Ferrotypes

GO TO

PERRY & BOEM,

Satisfaction always guaranteed. Crayon, Mezzotints and Water Color Portraits a Specialty.

18th & Street, DENVER

LEWIS WHIPPLE,

CARPENTER,

CONTRACTOR & BUILDER,

COLORADO SPRINGS.

Contracts taken and Material Furnished. Work Guaranteed.

Latest Fall and Winter Fashions,

HATS and CAPS,

JUST RECEIVED

AT LEONARD'S,

HUERFANO STREET.

DANIELS & CO.,

376 Larimer Street,

DENVER, - COLORADO

Importers of and Wholesale and Retail Dealers in

CROCKERY,

A full and complete assortment of China, Glassware, Wooden and Willow-ware, Fancy Goods, etc., constantly on hand. Orders from the trade solicited, which will receive prompt and careful attention.

BENITO BACA, Las Vegas, N. M. P. C. ARMIJO, Albuquerque, N. M.

BACA & ARMIJO,

Sheep Dealers,

Are ready to supply the Colorado and New Mexico markets with Ewes, Wethers, and Lambs, at the very lowest figures.

We have made Dr. S. B. Davis our Sole Agent for Colorado, who can be found at Charpiot's, Denver.

Parties wishing to purchase Sheep will please call on him, as he has full authority to contract for any amount, and any contract made by him we hold ourselves responsible for. BACA & ARMIJO.

F. WITTRAY,

Successor to the

Solid Saw Mill and Lumber Company,

DEALER IN

All Kinds of Colorado and Chicago

LUMBER,

Lath, Shingles, Doors, Sash, Etc.

YARD, NEAR THE FREIGHT DEPOT,

COLORADO SPRINGS.

NEW

Hardware Store.

G. S. BARNES,

GENERAL DEALER IN

HARDWARE,

IRON, STEEL, NAILS,

COOKING AND HEATING

STOVES,

Colorado Springs, Colorado.

Tin Shop in Connection.

ALL

Owing to the County Seat,

THE EL PASO GARDEN, JUST OUT OF TOWN, foot of Tejon Street, will sell

LAGER BEER,

AT 5 CENTS A GLASS.

NEW

GROCERY

STORE,

Tejon Street, COLORADO SPRINGS.

Next door north of Wm. B. Young & Co.'s Bank

IMPORTERS OF AND DEALERS IN

QUEENSWARE,

PAINTS, OILS,

LOOKING-GLASSES, WINDOW GLASS,

PLATED WARE, LAMPS, LANTERNS, ETC.

Implement Warehouse.

BAIN WAGONS,

WALTER A. WOOD'S

REAPERS and MOWERS,

RAIL-ROAD SCRAPERS,

HOLLINGSWORTH and PACIFIC

SULKY HAY-RAKES,

AND DEALER IN WAGON

AND CARRIAGE WOOD STOCK.

THOMAS WANLESS,

AGENT.

Colorado Springs, Colorado.

BRANCH HOUSE

OF

WHARTON & KINSEY,

ESTABLISHED AT

COLORADO SPRINGS

KEEPS CONSTANTLY ON HAND A COMPLETE Stock of the well known Bain Wagons made up expressly for Colorado Trade. Walter A. Wood's Improved Reaper and New Iron Frame Dropper and Mower, with Solid Brass Boxes, insuring light draft and durability. Also, dealer in Hollingsworth and Pacific Sulky Hay Rakes, Rail Road Scrapers, Plows, Farm Implements, and dealer in Wagon and Carriage Wood Stock.

THOMAS WANLESS,

AGENT

Corner, Pike's Avenue and Tejon Street,

COLORADO SPRINGS.

GEO. HAMILTON,

Merchant Tailor

HUERFANO STREET,

East of Drug Store, COLORADO SPRINGS.

S. M. ATEN,

PHOTOGRAPHER,

TEJON STREET,

Next door north of "Out West" Printing Office,

COLORADO SPRINGS,

is prepared to take all kinds of Photographs, Tintypes, and views of all the Mountain Scenery.

EXPRESS.

City & Wells, Fargo & Company's

DELIVERY.

All Goods Consigned to our care, will receive prompt and careful attention.

O. T. EVANS & Co.,

Office at Eagle Hotel, COLORADO SPRINGS.

VARIETIES.

A citizen of Champaign, Ill., is now living in a house with his wife, seventeen children, and three mothers-in-law, and yet he is not happy.

A prominent opinion of girls is the same as it was thirty years ago, namely, that they are very well in their place, and for instrumental pieces, worth four dollars.

A man who has died twice says he can't see why people are so afraid of death. It is only a little more than going to sleep.

Mark Twain's opinion of boys: "If I had a vacant place in my house, and could only fill it with one of them, I would be at a loss to know which one to take for life, the Bean Boy, or the Fourth Boy."

Lord Byron's dying man, in his religious despair, "I say, sir, is what sect do you think I belong to?" "We don't exactly know," replied the other, "but we judge from what you make, and what you do, that you belong to the Old Scratch sect."

A correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial writes that "the Colorado on the banks of the Gunnison is the finest trout stream you will find that has never yet been fished, has a rapid current, is free from any admixture of the tainted ore lines, such as are so fatal to the trout in the Arkansas, and is abundantly supplied with food for the trout."

A man who has died twice says he can't see why people are so afraid of death. It is only a little more than going to sleep.

Mark Twain's opinion of boys: "If I had a vacant place in my house, and could only fill it with one of them, I would be at a loss to know which one to take for life, the Bean Boy, or the Fourth Boy."

Lord Byron's dying man, in his religious despair, "I say, sir, is what sect do you think I belong to?" "We don't exactly know," replied the other, "but we judge from what you make, and what you do, that you belong to the Old Scratch sect."

A correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial writes that "the Colorado on the banks of the Gunnison is the finest trout stream you will find that has never yet been fished, has a rapid current, is free from any admixture of the tainted ore lines, such as are so fatal to the trout in the Arkansas, and is abundantly supplied with food for the trout."

INFORMATION FOR STRANGERS.

COLORADO.

To borrow the expression of a well-known writer, the Territory of Colorado straddles the Rocky Mountains like a saddle—a part of it being on their eastern flank, a part on their western flank, and a part of it being taken up by the mountains themselves. It lies between the 37th and 41st parallels of north latitude, and the 102d and 109th meridians of west longitude, being bounded on the north by Wyoming and Nebraska, on the east by Nebraska and Kansas, and on the south by New Mexico and on the west by Utah. The area embraced forms nearly a square, containing about 105,475 square miles, or 67,504,000 acres—a greater extent of country than all of Great Britain, with a colony or two in addition, and quite as large as New York, Pennsylvania, and Massachusetts, with New Jersey thrown in for good measure."

For many reasons, Colorado is one of the most remarkable sections of country on the face of the earth.

Though not geographically, it is, really, the centre of the North American Continent. Up to its giant peaks, there is a gradual slope on every side, from the Atlantic on the east, the Pacific on the west, the Gulf of Mexico on the south, and the confines of the Polar Sea on the north.

The dwellers on the "plains" or lower lands, live, on the average, about a mile above the level of the sea; while those who live in its "mountain towns" are lifted still nearer heaven.

Its climate is magnificently grand. Its climate is delicately cheering and healthful. The clear air and the bright sunshine, which constitute a characteristic, act like a charm upon the system, invigorating the body, powers of mind and energizing every faculty. The dryness and purity of the atmosphere render it especially suitable for those afflicted with consumptive or asthmatic tendencies, or pulmonary complaints of any description, if the lungs, such as are not so far gone as to be incurable, are almost certain to regain health and strength.

Its resources of the country are almost limitless and innumerable.

Its mountains are pointed and stored with precious metals of all kinds—gold and silver, copper and lead, coal and iron.

Its plains and valleys are rich and lying at their outlets and feet, are peopled with flocks, whose wool yields crops of rich abundance. Owing to the small rainfall, irrigation is necessary to the cultivation of the soil. But this, when understood, is comparatively little labor, and far more than compensated for by the great yield which follows.

Eastward from the mountains, the "great plains" stretch in a level or undulating surface, covered with rich grasses which are the best pastures in the world. Sheep and cattle fattened upon them with little care, and were fed in winter as through the winter as well as the summer. During the fall, the clearness of the atmosphere causes the grass to assume a rich red. These plains are well watered by streams, upon the banks of which, in many places, are found the best of timber, for fuel and for building purposes.

Beyond the Territory, and in the mountains, are certain valleys, very rich, the large streams and other rivers affording water for irrigation.

Such is the country, with its natural resources, as we find it, covering all the three great geographical divisions of Mining, Agriculture, and Manufactures, and all the extraordinary advantages of climate, combine to make it a beautiful and delightful one.

EL PASO COUNTY.

El Paso County is one of the eight counties of the Territory, and ranks second in extent, being considerably larger than Arkansas, in area, and equal to Massachusetts. Along its northern border stretches the Rocky Mountains, the Colorado Mountain Range, which, taking a sweep from the east, crosses the Territory, the Platte and the south Arkansas in the south. Within the "Depth" the country has a gradual slope to the east, and northern eighteen miles of the Arkansas, the country is rolling, with a few exceptions, of the country, with a few exceptions, of the country, with a few exceptions, of the country